John N. McMahon
Deputy Director
Central Intelligence Agency

John
Dear Mr. McMahon:

(C) During our lunch last week, I commended to you the distinguished service of all those CIA officers who are detailed to my office. One of those officers deserves special recognition for his exceptional performance during the past year and a half.

(C) As you know from your participation in senior Administration review groups, the extraordinary success we have enjoyed on Capitol Hill has been commended by the highest levels. Your officer, [redacted] is directly responsible for that success. He has been able to maintain program security on the Hill while obtaining full funding from key committees--at the same time balancing the needs of Congress for program oversight.

(C) I have already commended to you and to other departmental heads, the assistance of legislative officers who were directed by [redacted] in executing our legislative program. Now, I recommend [redacted] be considered for promotion. [redacted] performance has been a tribute to his own skill and professionalism and is truly a credit to the Central Intelligence Agency.

Sincerely,

LTG Bennett L. Lewis, USA
